To our Temple Members:

After a long conversation with other Jewish community leaders from the area and in consultation with medical professionals, we have made the difficult decision to cancel all in person services and building-held programs beginning this Shabbat and lasting through April 19th. This decision was not made easily, but was done out of an abundance of caution and love for our members, and with safety and well-being in mind.

Rabbi Zerwekh will be doing pastoral visits by phone and Skype for the time being and the Temple office will remain open its normal hours. We will be working to set up streaming Shabbat services to gather how we can. Just because we may not join together for a while does not make us less of a family or change our direction. At this time, let's reach out to those we care about and make sure we are all safe, healthy, and taken care of.

We understand that this could be a quickly changing situation and if you need either of us, call the office at 248-967-4020 or Rabbi at 248-933-9818, or Marty at 248-568-0432.

B'vrachaha Lavriut

With Blessings for Health,

Rabbi Matt Zerwekh
